Courage doesn't always roar.
Sometimes courage is the quiet voice at the end of day saying,
"I will try again tomorrow."

- mary anne radmacher

a couple of weeks ago, a woman was in our store with the most contagious smile. she was enjoying every minute of her day. her spirit filled our store effortlessly, and there was good energy to spare.

she is fighting breast cancer. she has had a double mastectomy, her arms and legs are wrapped in bandages from the side effects of treatment, she is bald, and she suffers with daily pain. she shared her experience and fight openly and honestly, and we felt so blessed with her visit.

she is beautiful.

we dedicate our 5th annual Wings of Hope event to her and to everyone like her. they are the reason that on november 6th, 10% of all of our sales and every dollar raised in our Wings of Hope Raffle will be donated to the Susan Henke Miller Breast Cancer Research Fund that directly supports local research efforts to find a cure for cancer.

we will try again tomorrow,
and the next day,
and the next day.
until there is a cure.
